

Chi's Flat 盘古大观池公馆 @ Beijing, 2012

Chi's flat is near the main facilities of 2008 Beijing Olympic Games, the National Stadiums and the National Aquatic Centre. The flat is divided in two by a corridor/gallery, one is the relatively private part and the other is the relatively public part offering opportunities to host parties. The client was delighted by the so called 'Neo-art deco' style used in the project. In addition, it was said that the sale department in the high-end developer of this real estate preferred this flat to their initial mock-up when they were showing.

My role: leader of the design team.
